

Bioeconomy – Opportunity for a sustainable society?

Steffi Ober

Bundesgeschäftsstelle, Naturschutzbund Deutschland e.v. - NABU, Berlin, Germany

Contact: Steffi.Ober@NABU.de

The bioeconomy covers significantly different areas of life and infrastructures of a society – from eating to housing, heating and through to mobility. The word “Oikos” means intelligent economizing in the entire house. Today we would translate the entire house as a concept of planetary boundaries and intelligent economizing as green growth or degrowth. What this implies for research and innovation requires a societal and political discourse.