1en: Create ResearcherID

You will find:

- ✓ How to create ResearcherID an?
- ✓ How can I import my publications from Web of Science into my ResearcherID's profile?
- ✓ How can I update my ORCID using the ResearcherID?

Why?

- ✓ To identify yourself in the scientific community?
- ✓ To have an identifier for bibliometric analysis
- ✓ More and more you will need to transmit your author-ID instead your complete publicationlist for your letters of application.

More about this topic:

- ✓ 2de: Update your publications in ResearcherID
- ✓ 3de:Export data from the UFZ's publication database into your Researcher-ID
- ✓ 4de: Data transfer from other reference software into ResercherID

With the following steps you can match your ResearcherID with your existing (?) ORCID or you can create an ORCID.

ORCID
Did you know you can associate your ORC	0 D with your Researchen'D account?
I would like to create an ORCID receiption	d The Dpen Researcher and Contributer ID (ORCD, toc.) is a non-profit organization that arms to solve the subscritostratulator name ambiguity profilem in scholarly commerciation by creating a central registry of unique identifiers. These identifiers can be used within various systems you may interact with in your professional research workflow including manuscript submission, etc.
C Laiready have an ORCID record.	By creating an ORCID you will be able to link your ResearcherD account with this centralized registry
	Laum more about ORCID.
C No, thank you.	If you choose not to get or associate an ORCID, you can do it at a later time.

There are several possibilities to add publications:

- Option 1: Import from Web of Science
- Option 2: Import from Endnote(-web)

Option 3: Export datasets from a reference software you use in RIS format (e.g. from the UFZ's publikations database, Endnote, Reference Manager)

We will here describe option 1: import from Web of Science

click to "Search Web of Science":

Please type all information regarding your publications into the article-searchmask and click "Search":
